

Nic Dorward

Decolonizing Aotearoa, I love this work :D It's about time we as a country honour Kai Tahu and addressing the horrific history of colonialism, forced assimilation, genocide and white washing of the history. Un-naming of areas that are sacred to Kai Tahu is another step in the process. It always was and it always be Kai Tahu land.

Reply · Like ·  1 · July 2 at 11:32pm

Thomas Nelson · Owner at Tom Nelson Property

The men she plans to dishonour were great geologists. Massey is a university and should honour scientists. I have had a look at some of her work. Michelangelo she ain't. What a joke. Shame on you for hosting this attention-seeking non-entity. Haast in particular was a great man. This woman is effectively a beneficiary. This is from Wikipedia: "Agassiz made extensive contributions to ichthyological classification (including of extinct species) and to the study of geological history (including to the founding of glaciology), and has become broadly known through study of his thorough regimen of observational data gathering and analysis. He made vast institutional and scientific contributions to zoology, geology, and related areas—including many multi-volume research series running to thousands of pages."

Reply · Like ·  1 · Edited · July 1 at 2:29am

Thomas Nelson · Owner at Tom Nelson Property

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Maria_Louise_Baldwin

Reply · Like · July 1 at 3:38am

Cassandra Barnett

Aroha to you Sasha for your courage! (Perhaps the Agassiz School should also be unnamed, to fully honour Baldwin's achievements in the face of institutional racism...)

Reply · Like · July 2 at 5:04pm

Thomas Nelson · Owner at Tom Nelson Property

What courage? The Agassiz School has already been unnamed and Baldwin was head of it before WWI. Stop pretending you are standing up to tyranny. Ms Huber is being paid good money for her minimal artistic talents. Baldwin was on an altogether higher plane. Rather than being professionally oppressed, she led an exemplary life.

Reply · Like · Edited · July 2 at 8:58pm

Thomas Nelson · Owner at Tom Nelson Property

My word, she makes a lot of money being a cry-bully. I have found an African-American woman for her to take as a role model. She made a name for herself doing useful work at the Agassiz School in Massachusetts over 100 years ago.

Reply · Like · Edited · July 1 at 3:12am

Thomas Nelson · Owner at Tom Nelson Property

I thought Massey was better than this.

Reply · Like · July 1 at 2:21am